Re: Unsung Hero Award Nomination for Michele P. Fuller (P53316)

Dear Ms. Sharlow and Representative Assembly Members:

I am writing to nominate Michele P. Fuller (P53316) for the Unsung Hero Award because she is a champion for an often overlooked and under-appreciated population. She has spent her career advocating for individuals with disabilities and their caregivers.

Michele's practice focuses on special needs planning. However, it is not merely a business venture for Michele; it is her calling and her passion. She does not merely verbalize support for individuals with disabilities; she actually puts her words into dedicated practice. She champions individuals with disabilities as well as their caregivers, educates other professionals throughout the country about special needs planning, and has even employed and supported an attorney who has a significant disability.

Michele is nationally known as one of the top special needs planners in the country. She generously shares her expertise. Michele routinely travels the country speaking to other attorneys, paralegals, financial advisors, service providers, and parent groups to share her expertise and educate them about special needs planning. Michele also publishes books and articles about special needs planning to educate other professionals on a local and national level. She has even participated in community outreach and education programs with Blue Cross/Blue Shield. In addition, Michele serves as counsel for several local and national non-profit organizations, which administer special needs trusts.

While Michele is nationally known, her practice has always been based in Michigan. She is the Founder of the Michigan Law Center, P.L.L.C. in Macomb. She is also the Director of Advocacy, Inc., a non-profit organization in Macomb that offers special needs trust administration services for all types of special needs trusts. Michele does not simply practice special needs planning. Instead, she epitomizes what it is to be a champion for individuals with disabilities and their caregivers. Michele approaches each individual and his/her caregiver(s) with unparalleled compassion. While observing her interactions with clients, it is immediately apparent that her heart is in it. She genuinely believes and conveys that each individual with disabilities possesses tremendous value and potential, and is deserving of the utmost love, dignity, and respect. She is known for going the extra mile by counseling families through very difficult situations, tenaciously pursuing appeals to extend Medicare days, and battling insurance companies. Michele ensures that her clients live their best lives and is happy to stand up for them and challenge anyone who seeks to jeopardize their benefits, assets, health, safety, well-being, or spirit.

Michele is exceptionally insightful regarding the unique challenges that her clients face and astutely appreciates and anticipates their needs. She is truly unique in that she has gone above and beyond by building and designing an office that is completely accessible for her clients with disabilities. There is close parking, ADA compliant doorways and hallways, doors that are lightweight and easy to open, large in-suite restrooms, as well as a food and beverage station to accommodate any dietary needs. She has spared no detail, even accounting for flooring transitions, which can be challenging for certain clients. In addition, Michele hosts a yearly client appreciation event at a venue that is accessible for all of her clients who have disabilities. The event is a wonderful opportunity for those clients and their families to escape their difficult and demanding daily routines.

Michele has volunteered as a speaker for the Arc of Macomb County. She also regularly volunteers with Kids on the Go, providing education support to special needs children. In addition, Michele consistently answers questions on the Michigan Association for Justice (MAJ) listserv and responds to inquiries from other attorneys who seek her advice on how to proceed with special needs issues. Significantly, Michele regularly performs pro bono work, which includes providing general guidance, drafting complex special needs trusts, and applying for Medicaid. One particular pro bono case really stands out. A mother had six children, four of whom had severe disabilities. The mother raised enough money to buy a home so that her four disabled children could live independently with Medicaid assistance. However, the mother deeded the home to her two non-disabled children, jointly, with the intent that they would hold the home for safekeeping so that their four disabled siblings could live in it. Unfortunately, after the mother's death, one of the co-owners declared bankruptcy. The bankruptcy trustee was relentlessly pursuing the home, and thus threatening to displace four severely disabled adults. Michele accepted the pro bono case and determined that her efforts to reason with the bankruptcy trustee were futile. So, Michele got creative and managed to convince the debtor to drop the bankruptcy and to join the other co-owner in transferring the home into a special needs trust for the benefit of their four severely disabled siblings. Michele's creative thinking and savvy negotiating skills protected four severely disabled siblings from being evicted, separated, and placed into the system.

It is easy for a person to proclaim that he/she supports individuals with disabilities. After all, who would be so cruel to denounce support for such people who face daily obstacles and challenges that many will never have to consider their entire lives? When it comes to supporting individuals with disabilities, it is easy to verbalize support, but very few actually put their words into dedicated practice. The foregoing examples demonstrate that Michele is a wonderful champion for individuals with disabilities and their caregivers. Yet, one of the most telling examples of how Michele genuinely champions individuals with disabilities is the fact that she has employed and supported an attorney who has a significant disability. That attorney is me.

I have two severe digestive illnesses which prevent my body from being able to properly digest food. As a result, I require continuous specialized nutrition through a feeding tube. The feeding tube provides my only source of nutrition and constitutes a life-sustaining medical device. I have battled these severe digestive illnesses for several years and have fought to avoid the tube for some time. However, seven months ago, after fighting for as long and hard as humanly possible and after all other treatment options overtly failed, I had no choice but to succumb to the tube in order to save my life. It is anticipated that I will be a 24/7 tube-fed patient for life. Being a 24/7 tube-fed patient requires me to perform my daily routine while wearing a small backpack that carries my feed bag and pump while a tube continuously delivers specialized nutrition into my body.

Despite proudly becoming the only known practicing 24/7 tube-fed attorney in the country, and being medically cleared to return to work without limitations, I discovered that some attorneys frowned upon me because of my feeding tube. However, Michele saw beyond my disability. She focused on my talents and accomplishments, applauded my tenacity and resilience, and hired me as her Associate Attorney. It really takes a phenomenal person to hire an individual with a significant disability. Michele has continued to be tremendously supportive, which has helped me overcome and navigate my disability in the workplace, at court, and at events. When it comes to supporting individuals with disabilities, it is easy to talk the talk, but very few can actually walk the walk. Michele not only walks the walk, but has taken my hand after my major life-change and has invited me to walk with her. Michele and I share a passion for special needs issues and I am incredibly grateful and honored to have the opportunity to learn special needs planning from the absolute best.

Michele is my champion and is a champion for so many others who have disabilities as well as their caregivers. I strongly think that Michele should be recognized and applauded for her legal services and advocacy on behalf of individuals with disabilities as well as their caregivers, her nationwide speaking engagements and publications designed to educate other professionals about special needs planning, and for hiring and supporting an attorney who has a significant disability. She is truly an unsung hero and there is no one more worthy of this award. Thank you very much for your time and consideration.

Sincerely Yours,

Ellen "Molly" Burns (P76314)
