The Animal Law Section Opposes Senate Resolution 105.

Explanation:

Senate Resolution 105 calls for the federal government to take wolves off of the endangered species list, even though the number of wolves in Michigan has declined in recent years. If the wolves lose federal protection, they would be subject to hunting, trapping, snaring, and hounding. This resolution ignores the wolves' decline in population and also ignores the will of the Michigan voters, who voted against the wolf hunt on two separate occasions in 2014.
