Support with Recommended AmendmentsExplanation:

The Children's Law Section supports HB 4174 with a recommendation that any language about a rebuttable presumption of inadmissibility be removed. The bill should automatically render all statements by a child inadmissible if any deception was used during the interaction, and we oppose giving prosecutor's the ability to rebut that. We support a public policy against police using deception when interacting with children. The use of deception creates distrust and makes it less likely that children will be willing to cooperate with police, even when it would be that they do interact with them. Allowing police to use deception when interacting with children can also run the risk of teaching children that it is okay for them to lie because people they are told to trust (i.e., police) are allowed to lie. In order to enforce a public policy against the use of deception by police and others when interacting with children, the only viable remedy is a full prohibition on the use of deception.
