

ARTS
Communications
ACES
Entertainment
Sports

THE ARTS, COMMUNICATIONS, ENTERTAINMENT, AND SPORTS LAW SECTION ("ACES") of the State Bar of Michigan is pleased to present the following articles from members of the section. The issues covered by the articles are diverse. This is a reflection of the broad spectrum of practice covered by the section. The section is comprised of lawyers who have an interest in or spend a substantial amount of their professional time in arts, communications, entertainment, or sports law. Many of the members are artists, writers, and performers, and their interest is personal rather than professional. These members bring a passion for their interest to the section.

The section has monthly meetings for the membership. Interesting and informative speakers provide talks on areas of interest. The meetings also provide members an opportunity to meet the other members of the section who work and participate in many of the section activities, such as the annual spring seminar and newsletter.

The section hopes that you find something of interest in the materials presented in this issue of the Michigan Bar Journal. If you have interest in any of the areas covered by this section, we invite you to join our section. Membership in this section provides the opportunity to work with some of the most talented and interesting lawyers in the State Bar of Michigan.

Thomas E. Anderson

