

On behalf of the State Bar of Michigan, I would like to welcome you to the 69th Annual Meeting. In response to your collective voices, the State Bar is pleased to present an expanded Annual Meeting to include more speakers, practical courses to help improve your own practice, exhibitors, and time to meet and enjoy the company of your colleagues.

The Annual Meeting is being held in collaboration with the Governor's Task Force on Children's Justice. As a result, State Bar attendees are welcome to benefit from their programs and speakers as well.

Of special note is the State Bar of Michigan Distinguished Service Awards dinner Thursday evening. A spotlight will shine on those who have served our community and our state in special ways. Also, we have planned a tour of the State Capitol commemorating its 125th anniversary.

All this in addition to section meetings, Board of Commissioners, Representative Assembly, and other ancillary group meetings.

We are proud to present this opportunity to learn, enjoy, and network with colleagues. Thank you for coming.

Max Hoffman
Annual Meeting Committee Chair

Dennis W. Archer, president of the American Bar Association, is the first person of color to head the ABA. Chairman of Dickinson Wright PLLC, a Detroit-based law firm, Mr. Archer served two four-year terms as mayor of the city of Detroit (1994–2001). Archer has long been active in the organized bar, as president of the Wolverine Bar Association in 1979–80, the National Bar Association in 1983–84, and the State Bar of Michigan in 1984–85. Among his many achievements, Mr. Archer was named Public Official of the Year by Governing magazine; one of the 25 most dynamic mayors in America by Newsweek magazine; one of the 100 Most Powerful Attorneys in the United States by the National Law Journal, and one of the 100 Most Influential Black Americans by Ebony magazine.

Chief Justice Maura D. Corrigan was elected to the Michigan Supreme Court in 1998. She has served as Chief Justice since January 2001. After her appointment to the Michigan Court of Appeals by Governor John Engler in 1992 and her re-election in 1994, Corrigan served as Chief Judge of the court from 1997 until assuming office as Justice in 1999. Justice Corrigan graduated magna cum laude from Marygrove College in Detroit and cum laude from the University of Detroit Law School in 1973. Justice Corrigan was assistant prosecuting attorney in Wayne County from 1974 to 1979, when she became Chief of Appeals in the United States Attorney's Office in Detroit. In 1986, she was promoted to Chief Assistant United States Attorney, the first woman to hold that position. Justice Corrigan has won several awards for her professional achievements including the U.S. Department of Health and Human Services (OCS) Award for significant improvements to Michigan's Child Support Enforcement Program; honorary doctorates of law from Michigan State University College of Law and Northern Michigan University; the University of Detroit–Mercy, Marygrove College Distinguished Alumnae Award; the U.S. Department of Justice Director's Award for Outstanding Performance as an Assistant U.S. Attorney; and the Federal Bar Association's Leonard Gilman Award to the Outstanding Practitioner of Criminal Law.

SPEAKERS

Professor, consultant, and prolific author, Dr. James Garbarino earned his Ph.D. in Human Development and Family Studies from Cornell University, and is currently a professor in the Graduate School of Social Work at Boston College. Garbarino is a consultant to television, magazine, newspaper reports on children and families, and serves as a scientific expert witness in criminal and civil cases involving issues of violence and children. He has also served as consultant or advisor to a wide range of organizations including the American Medical Association, the National Black Child Development Institute, the U.S. Advisory Board on Child Abuse and Neglect, and the FBI. Dr. Garbarino is the recipient of prestigious prizes and awards and is a Spencer Fellow of the National Academy of Education and a National Fellow of the Kellogg Foundation. Dr. Garbarino's presentation is sponsored by the Governor's Task Force on Children's Justice.

R. Dale Lefever, Ph.D. is Assistant Chairman for Planning and Program Development, Department of Family Medicine, at the University of Michigan Medical School in Ann Arbor. Mixing the maize and blue with the green and white, Dr. Lefever was Assistant Director of the Office of Medical Education at Michigan State University immediately after completing his doctorate in Higher Education Administration and Labor and Industrial Relations at MSU. Dr. Lefever's involvement in consulting and conducting training for personnel in the justice system began in 1973 with programs for the Institute of Court Management in Denver, CO. Since then, he has conducted over 1,100 leadership and management development programs for judges, court administrators, prosecuting and defense attorneys and other participants in the justice system. His special areas of expertise are in leadership development, strategic planning, and the management of organizational change.

Internationally respected child psychiatrist and parenting expert, Dr. Kyle Pruett has gained recognition as one of the leading authorities on the role of fathers. Pruett first established himself as a pioneer in the field of father and child relationships and has appeared on a number of programs including Good Morning America; 20/20 and National Public Radio. He was recently featured with Peter Jennings on the ABC special about children, which aired in the aftermath of September 11. Dr. Pruett was educated at Yale University and Tufts University School of Medicine. He is a Clinical Professor of Child Psychiatry at the Yale Child Student Center and maintains a private practice. Dr. Pruett's presentation is sponsored by the Governor's Task Force on Children's Justice.

Justice Elizabeth A. "Betty" Weaver was elected as a Leelanau County probate and juvenile judge in 1974 and has been a judge ever since. In 1986 and 1992, she was elected to the Court of Appeals. In 1994, she was elected to the Michigan Supreme Court, to which she was re-elected in 2002. From 1999–2001, she served as Chief Justice.

A native of New Orleans, Justice Weaver graduated Phi Beta Kappa from Newcomb College and served as a Law Review editor at Tulane University Law School where she graduated with highest honors (Order of Coif) in 1965. After practicing law in Louisiana, she moved to Michigan, where she practiced law and taught school before her election as probate judge.

Three governors and five Chief Justices have appointed Justice Weaver to serve on numerous state commissions and committees including: the Trial Court Assessment Commission, the Task Force for Children's Justice on Child Abuse and Neglect, the Commission on Criminal Justice, and the Committee on Juvenile Justice. Justice Weaver has been nationally recognized for her work in juvenile justice, appearing on Good Morning America and in People Magazine. She was voted "Jurist of the Year" in 1999 by the Police Officers Association of Michigan. In 2000, she received the Governor's Lifetime Achievement Award for Child Abuse and Neglect Prevention and has earned many other honors and awards.
