Explanation of the position, including any recommended amendments:

First, the action requires that the issuance of a personal protection order be maintained in the system for ten years without considering the potential for improper issuance or issuance based upon unreliable or unsubstantiated allegations. This is especially concerning given that many personal protection orders are issue ex parte and subsequently terminated following a hearing. The amendments are drafted in a manner that does not rule out a requirement that even terminated orders would be retained in the system for ten years

Second, the proposed public registry serves little practical purpose. The purpose of a personal protection order is to protect a specific individual and in some circumstances that individual's family. There is no judicial finding that the subject of the order is a danger to others thereby requiring some notification beyond the scope of those who requested and received the order.

Third, retention of the order on the publicly accessible system will have a long-term effect when the matter that required the personal protection order may be a temporary situation.

FOR LEGISLATIVE ISSUES ONLY:

This position falls within the following Keller-permissible category:

- The regulation and discipline of attorneys
- ✓ The improvement of the functioning of the courts
- The availability of legal services to society
- The regulation of attorney trust accounts
- The regulation of the legal profession, including the education, the ethics, the competency, and the integrity of the profession.

Keller-permissible explanation:

Requiring personal protection orders to be in the Law Enforcement Information Network (LEIN) system for ten years promotes increased litigation and congestion in the courts by the rippling effect via respondents seeking to undo erroneously issued or continued personal protection orders and increased litigation due to action or non-action effecting respondents by unrelated third parties relying on information in LIEN.
