Explanation of the position, including any recommended amendments:

SBs 1200- 1203 arose from the facts in the case In re MKK, no. 292065. In that case the trial judge held a paternity proceeding in abeyance pending the resolution of the adoption. The court of appeals reversed, holding that it was essential to determine the child's father in order to decide whether the child was available for adoption. These bills seek to remedy a problem that has already been resolved by this appellate decision and in this instance the cure is worse than the disease.

SB 1203 would require the Friend of the Court to open an account to collect support from a putative father without any underlying court order. Presumably this would assist the putative father in proving that they had attempted to provide support for their child. The Friend of the Court is set up to enforce court orders. Without a court order the Friend of the Court would have no vehicle for dealing with these voluntary payments, nor for disbursing them to the appropriate person. The Family Law Section felt that this was an inappropriate duty to impose on an overburdened agency and opposes this bill.
